9:00 AM to 12:30 PM Workshop

9:00 AM Politics: How the European Parliament election fits in the broader political trends in Europe

- ❖ The workshop starts with a recap of the EP2019 election results and analyzes the driving factors behind them. How will a more fragmented and polarized political landscape, visible in the European Parliament and in national elections, impact policy making in the EU?

10:00 AM The new commission – the challenges and strategies

- ❖ The hearings of the new commission are underway. Who are the newcomers, what strategy is behind Ursula von der Leyen's picks and who will cause trouble? The workshop will give you insight into the new power structure and who to watch out for.

11:00 AM Policies: The agenda of the new commission and tracking voting behavior of MEPs in the age of Pro Intelligence

- ❖ What policy fields do the new commissioners have their eyes on and which big files did the old commission leave for them?

- ❖ With PRO INTELLIGENCE voting behavior has become more transparent. The workshop analyzes what the new seat distribution in the European Parliament means for possible future voting outcomes on important policies.

11:45 AM The political transformation and its impact on the future of the EU and legislation
